WHETHER you want to revel in blissful serenity or be the life of the party, Five Palm Jumeirah allows you the luxury to do both.

Deemed as the new hot spot on Palm Jumeirah, the luxury resort caters to travelers seeking a sense of purpose. It is undoubtedly the place people go 'to be seen' but is also a great place for couples or women traveling together.

The grand entrance is adorned with a towering 15 by 15 meter luminous glass cube that opens to views of a glistening blue swimming pool flanked by palm trees. A wooden hexagonal pattern runs throughout the property, complemented by an eclectic range of furnishings. Buzzing with energy as tourists pour in, it's an ironic yet comforting sight to see A-bikers, women in hijabs, different races and ages gathered around sun-beds and restaurants facing the gigantic pool on a sunny day; all indifferent to their differences.

The spacious yet minimalistic premier room is a perfect size for two and offers magnificent sea views facing Dubai Marina. All rooms have a balcony, smart TVs, wonderful amenities including snacks and coffee makers with luxury toiletries and spacious Greek-Italian marbled bathrooms with rainfall showers.

Floor-to-ceiling windows allow natural light and energy to flood in, making the interiors as persuasive as the alluring balcony views.

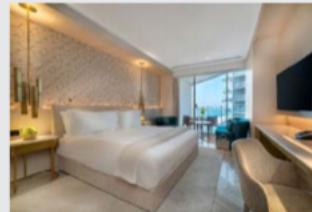

The resort offers a variety of beach activities like kayaking, jet-ski among others including a spa, salon, kids activities and access to their private beach with a panoramic view of Dubai's stunning skyline.

It's unlikely to find calm amidst a crowd but there's a certain restraint in the air at Five Palm Jumeirah where freedom serves as a requisite.

During sunset women in abayas gather in groups by the private beach while those who enjoy beats and an upbeat sunset view relax by the pool and lounge. The property has six unique dining destinations including the popular Penthouse at the rooftop with a stunning private pool. The Penthouse is currently one of the most popular spots in Dubai and serves delectable Middle Eastern food with shisha on the terrace. The hospitality at the all-day dining restaurant BLVD is exceptional and the perfect place to start your day. Here's What's Happening at FIVE Palm Jumeirah:
